The English transfer program emphasizes literature, writing, and related areas and is designed to provide a solid background for work at the junior and senior levels in English.

A student who follows the recommended course sequence for English majors will be able to:
- use critical thinking, investigation, and reflection to interact with texts and ideas;
- judge the value of the literary endeavor by identifying, generating, and applying the appropriate critical vocabulary;
- explain what motivates people to read and what motivates writers to produce literary works;
- examine the cultural and historical factors that influence the reader, writer and text; and
- appraise how literature relates to an understanding of ourselves and the world.

Consult both the following list of major requirements and an academic advisor before registering, as expectations of English departments at four-year colleges vary. For example, some have a foreign language requirement.

This is a sample list of requirements for this major. Specific graduation requirements are identified through degree audit. Additional developmental courses in math, reading and English may be required based on placement scores. Only courses with a course number of 100 or higher meet graduation requirements for AA, AS and AES degrees.

* There are prerequisites, course requisites or minimum placement test scores for this course

See page 134 for specific general education requirements and course listings.
